VIDA SKINCARE

NEW 2024

ABOUT US

VIDA was born in 2015, In Amsterdam, The Netherlands. Our first products were facial oils and multi-purpose balms. The move to Croatia happened in 2017 – when founder Jennifer Deegan was seeking a more natural environment to live in as well as source ingredients from. We currently grow hemp locally and harvest wild lavender from the infamous island of Hvar. Helichrysum (Immortelle), comes from the coastal areas of southern Croatia. And where ever possible we purchase locally grown, harvested and pressed oils too.

Vida was created for people with sensitive skins, like mine. A life long battle with exzema made it very tricky to find products that agreed with my skin. So, when you are that desperate you make your own. After a lot of research and 3 years of studies – my eczema went away, and has never flared up again ever since. It is not only pure and natural skincare to thank, but also a cleaner lifestyle and diet.

GEN.2 LAUNCH 2024

Introducing Generation 2 of our VIDA skincare and bodycare line, a symphony of molecular harmony, meticulously orchestrated for your radiant well-being. Two years of relentless dedication have gone into the revamping of each product, unlocking a new realm of efficacy, functionality, and sheer perfection. Witness the transformation as we present an evolved formula that goes beyond mere formula adjustments, we have meticulously handpicked powerful actives that harmoniously complement each range, ensuring an unparalleled skincare experience that caters to your unique needs like never before.

All products 100% VEGAN

WHAT IS.. molecular harmony

“Molecular harmony” in skincare refers to the concept of using ingredients and formulations that work synergistically at the molecular level to promote optimal skin health and balance. It involves selecting ingredients that complement each other and work in harmony to achieve specific skincare goals.

When skincare products are formulated with consideration of molecular harmony, it means that the ingredients interact and support each other at the molecular level, enhancing their efficacy and delivering more targeted benefits to the skin. This approach takes into account the molecular structure, compatibility, and interactions of the ingredients to create a cohesive formulation that maximizes their potential.

The idea behind molecular harmony is to create a balanced and effective skincare product that addresses specific skin concerns while minimizing potential adverse effects. By considering the molecular aspects of the ingredients, we have optimized the delivery, absorption, and performance of the product on the skin, resulting in enhanced effectiveness and desired outcomes.

The phrase "African Soul Global Glow" as a secondary logo found on our products VIDA, conveys a deep and multifaceted meaning. The "African Soul" part emphasizes the core and essence of the brand, which is rooted in African heritage, culture, and traditional beauty wisdom. The founder Jennifer Deegan is from South Africa. The heart of the brand—the soul—is distinctly African, drawing upon the rich landscapes, biodiversity, and ancestral knowledge of South Africa.

The term "Global Glow" complements this by indicating that while the brand's soul is African, its appeal and influence extend globally. "Glow" implies that the products are designed to give users around the world a radiant glow, reflective of the brand's African origins but universally appealing and suitable for people from all walks of life, irrespective of where they are from. Together, "African Soul Global Glow" suggests a brand that is proud of its African origins, yet inclusive and adaptable to global beauty standards and practices. The logo encapsulates a spirit of travel, the gathering of ideas, and the creation of a skincare line (VIDA) that is at once locally treasured and globally celebrated.
